

The Hon. Ricardo S. Martinez

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Plaintiff,

v.

CHRISTOPHER FRANKLIN,

Defendant.

NO. CR24-193-RSM

DISCOVERY PROTECTIVE ORDER

This matter, having come before the Court on the parties' Stipulated Motion for Entry of a Discovery Protective Order, and the Court, having considered the motion, and being fully advised in this matter, hereby enters the following Discovery Protective Order:

1. Protected Material. For purposes of this Discovery Protective Order, "Protected Material" shall include (1) Grand Jury testimony; (2) witness statements; (3) financial information; (4) subscriber information (including phone and utility subscriber information for third parties); and (5) other personal identifying information ("PII")¹

¹ "PII" includes, but is not necessarily limited to, the information identified in Fed. R. Crim. P. 49.1(a) and includes full names, dates of birth, Social Security numbers (or other identification information), financial account information (including account numbers), tax information, driver's license numbers, addresses, telephone numbers, locations of residences or employment, medical records, school records, juvenile criminal records, and other confidential information. The

1 obtained during the investigation, either via Grand Jury subpoena and/or during the 2 execution of search warrants, including but not limited to personal information about the 3 Defendant and third parties and other sensitive information obtained from the search of 4 social media, cellular telephones, and other digital devices seized during the investigation
5 (collectively, the “Protected Material”). All financial records (including phone, utility, and 6 financial information for third parties), cellular telephone downloads, Grand Jury 7 transcripts, and summaries of financial records provided during discovery will be 8 considered Protected Material without further designation by the government.

9 2. Other information believed by the government to constitute Protected 10 Material will be so designated by the government. This material may include, but is not 11 limited to, information related to witnesses and third parties, criminal history reports, and 12 related Giglio impeachment materials.

13 3. Production of Protected Material to the Defense. The government will 14 make available copies of Protected Material, including those filed under seal directly to 15 defense counsel to comply with the government’s discovery obligations, and/or to a 16 Coordinating Discovery Attorney, should one be appointed. Possession of Protected
17 Material is limited to defense counsel, their office staff, investigators, paralegals, assistants,
18 and law clerks, as well as necessary third-party vendors, consultants, and/or experts 19 (hereafter, “members of the defense team”). Members of the defense team may not provide 20 copies of the Protected Material to other persons, including to the Defendant. In addition, 21 defense counsel is required to make a copy of the Discovery Protective Order available to 22 members of the defense team.

23 4. Review of Protected Material by the Defendant. The attorney of record 24 and members of the defense team may share and review the Protected Material with the 25 _____

26 government has endeavored to redact PII as appropriate, but the parties acknowledge and agree
27 that this will not always be possible, and that in some instances un-redacted PII may be necessary to the defense.

1 Defendant. If the Defendant is in custody at the Federal Detention Center (FDC), they will 2 be permitted to review the Protected Material, consistent with the regulations established
3 by the BOP, with or without counsel, in a controlled environment at the Federal Detention 4 Center (FDC), but will be prohibited from printing out, copying, or disseminating it. If the 5 Defendant is on pretrial release, they will be permitted to review the Protected Material at 6 the offices of their counsel, but will be prohibited from printing out, copying, or 7 disseminating it.

8 5. Limits on Dissemination of Protected Materials. The attorney of record
9 and members of the defense team acknowledge that providing copies of the Protected 10 Material to the Defendant and other persons is prohibited and agree not to duplicate or 11 provide copies of the Protected Material to the Defendant and other persons. This 12 Discovery Protective Order does not limit employees of the United States Attorney's 13 Office for the Western District of Washington from disclosing the Protected Material to 14 members of the United States Attorney's Office, federal law enforcement agencies, 15 witnesses, and the Court and defense as necessary to comply with the government's 16 discovery obligations.

17 6. Future Production of Additional Protected Materials. Additional types of 18 discovery items may be deemed by the parties to constitute Protected Material upon 19 agreement, or (if no agreement can be reached) by further order of the Court.

20 7. No Waiver. Nothing in this Discovery Protective Order should be construed 21 as imposing any substantive discovery obligations on the government that are different 22 from those imposed by case law and Rule 16 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.
23 The failure to designate any materials as provided in paragraph 2 shall not constitute a 24 waiver of a party's assertion that the materials are covered by this Discovery Protective 25 Order.

26 8. Use of Protected Material in Court. Any Protected Material that is filed 27 with the Court in connection with pretrial motions, trial, or other matter before this Court,

1 shall be filed under seal and shall remain sealed until otherwise ordered by this Court. This 2 does not entitle either party to seal their filings as a matter of course. The parties are 3 required to comply in all respects with the relevant local and federal rules of criminal 4 procedure pertaining to the sealing of court documents.

5 9. Non-Termination. Furthermore, after any judgment or disposition has 6 become final and there are no pending proceedings, challenges, appeals, or habeas
7 motions in the case, defense counsel shall destroy the Protected Material. If defense 8 counsel finds that retention of the Protected Material in their possession is necessary for 9 authorized reasons, such as professional or ethical obligations, defense counsel shall 10 retain the Protected Material in their case file subject to the restrictions of this Discovery
11 Protective Order.

12 10. Violation of Discovery Protective Order. Any person who willfully 13 violates this Discovery Protective Order may be held in contempt of court and may be 14 subject to monetary or other sanctions as deemed appropriate by this Court.

15 11. Modification of Discovery Protective Order. Nothing in this Discovery
16 Protective Order shall prevent any party from seeking modification of this Discovery
17 Protective Order or from objecting to discovery that it believes to be otherwise improper.
18 The parties agree that in the event that compliance with this Discovery Protective Order 19 makes it difficult for defense counsel to adhere to their Sixth Amendment obligations, or 20 otherwise imposes an unworkable burden on counsel, defense counsel shall bring any 21 concerns about the terms of the Discovery Protective Order to the attention of the 22 government. The parties shall then meet and confer with the intention of finding a mutually 23 acceptable solution. In the event that the parties cannot reach such a solution, defense
24 counsel shall have the right to bring any concerns about the scope or terms of the Discovery
25 Protective Order to the attention of the Court by way of a motion.

26 12. Agreement to Provide Copies of Protected Material to the Defendant.
27 Upon agreement of counsel for the government, members of a defense team may provide

1 copies of specific Protected Material, or redacted versions of such material, to the 2 Defendant. When seeking the government's agreement to give such a copy to the 3 Defendant, members of the defense team will identify with reasonable particularity,
4 including (where available) the specific Bates-numbered pages and or recording
5 descriptions, the specific material defense counsel proposes to give to the Defendant.
6 Unless expressly stated otherwise by the government, copies of Protected Material to be 7 provided to the Defendant will continue to be Protected Material subject to all of the 8 protections of this Discovery Protective Order, with the sole exception that a copy can be 9 given only to the Defendant (and not shared with anyone else outside the defense team). If 10 counsel for the government and counsel for the Defendant cannot reach agreement on 11 whether particular portions of the Protected Material or redacted versions of Protected
12 Material should be given to the Defendant under these conditions, defense counsel may 13 raise the issue with the Court by way of a motion.

14 13. No Ruling on Discoverability or Admissibility. This Discovery Protective 15 Order does not constitute a ruling on the question of whether any particular material is 16 properly discoverable or admissible and does not constitute any ruling on any potential 17 objection to the discoverability of any material.

18 14. No Ruling on Timing of Production. This Discovery Protective Order does 19 not require the government to provide particular discovery at a time or in a fashion 20 inconsistent with applicable law.
